Croatia Flooring factory

Žurjevac is a European town in Croatia and the future location of a modern parquet flooring factory. An ambitious project, foreigners have invested millions of euros and hundreds of locals are highly likely to find themselves gainfully employed within the next year, according to Christian Koch, CEO of Bauwerk Boen Group who recently said "We have invested around 13 million euros in infrastructure, mostly in machinery, but also in the reconstruction of the existing building and warehouse."

It was during the end of 2016 that the Bauwerk Boen Group acquired the parquet and wooden panel producer Haas Dom in Žurjevac. It was through this key acquisition that the organization maintained a lucrative long-term supply contract with the: State Forestry Administration of Croatia.

The 1.3 million square meter factory is merely the first stage of the project. Thereafter, the long term objective is to double the production capacity. With this increase, the company is expected to increase factory employees on staff from the present levels up to 250 workers. The sizeable workforce is to be comprised of men and women in equal measure. This is an ambitious project; the hope is to produce a measurable increase in Croatian flooring exports around the world.
