High performance sports flooring introduced

Gym owners are likely to recognize the value of high performance flooring. Perhaps this is one of the reasons why Gym Rubber by Great Mats has recently introduced PaviGym Flooring, a surface touted as surpassing the quality of traditional rubber mats and rolled rubber flooring, commonly seen in gymnasiums.

While rubber mats and rolled rubber flooring continue to serve a useful purpose, PaviGym Flooring seems to be a step up in quality. For health club owners, this introduction is a real opportunity to optimize their spaces for cardio exercises (yoga and pilates) and workouts (free weight strength training). A high quality surface like PaviGym Flooring is likely to improve performance for athletes at the facility. One of the welcoming side benefits is that Gym owners can preserve the underlying surface, an added value.

One of the nation's top flooring suppliers offering over 140 surface choices, including rubber gym floor mats, rolled rubber flooring and interlocking rubber tiles for residential gyms, commercial gyms and fitness facilities typically recommended for indoor use. However, some could be installed outdoors.
