Water fountains

Readers nearing retirement age are reminded about these useful devices, which were almost everywhere decades ago. They could be found indoors (bars, dance studios, department stores, industrial complexes, malls, movie theatres, offices, public restrooms, restaurants, schools, shops) or outdoors (athletic fields, beaches, parks) and just about every private and public facility.

Your Gateway to the Floor Covering Industry

Gradually, these convenient devices that serve to quench your thirst began disappearing from the private and public landscape for some reason at a time when this same generation of people nearing retirement today were in their 20's and 30's. Coincidentally, it was a time when the bottled water industry was on the rise with the plastic industry that makes the bottles for the water.
